Jacob Woolcock, Computing Teacher at Penpol School, introduced the Penpol Pumpkins. He introduced James S, Miles, Piran, Ethan, James B, Theo and Caio, and informed Members that the team consisted of 10 children, but Ada, Jenna and Ernie were unfortunately away for the half term holiday.

The children explained that the FIRST LEGO League is a competition consisting of 4 parts: Discovery, Impact, Innovation and Inclusion. Their award resulted from winning the Innovation Core Value Robot Games by designing, building and adapting a robot made out of LEGO to take part in a series of challenges on a large game board. They explained how they have written complex code to ensure the missions are completely successfully which requires a huge amount of problem solving and logical thinking, as well as figuring out some clever tricks to try and score more points on the board.

Mr Woolcock said that this year's theme was superpowers and that Ada, not present this evening, had been the catalyst for the idea after being inspired by the pumpkins left to go to waste after Halloween. He explained that the Pumpkins had thought about Food Waste in general and how bad it was that 35% of bin bags in Cornwall contained food waste, which decomposes in landfill and releases tons of Methane gas into the atmosphere. He said that the Pumpkins had researched how this could be harnessed and used as a clean, renewable energy just by recycling.

The children told Members that team work makes the competition fun, and that they had initially taken part in the Cornish Regional Final, winning 1st place in Robot Performance and the Champions Award, they said that they had won 1st in the Champions Award a second time leading on to taking part in the Great British Final and winning 1st place for Innovation and 2nd place in the Champions Award, competing against primary and secondary schools from the whole of the country.

Jacob explained that this phenomenal achievement had led to them to be invited to Boston, Massachusetts, USA for the International Open 3 day competition, where they would compete against 75 worldwide teams. He told Members that this had meant that the school had to raise £25,000 which would include flights, travel to and from airports, hotels, competition entry fees, food etc. He said that they had received amazing support from the local community and businesses and that donations were still being received.

The Mayor thanked the Penpol Pumpkins and Jacob Woolcock for their presentation and presented them with a Hayle plate, depicting the regions of Hayle. She told them that these were rarely given out and then usually to individuals and that no group or school had ever been awarded one.

The council congratulated the group and invited them to give an update after they had been to the USA.
